This book takes a fun-filled look at the foibles, follies, pratfalls, and unpredictable world of the duck hunter, from the time his alarm rings at 3.00 a.m. until he stumbles into freezing marsh water two hours later, swamping his waders but not dampening his enthusiasm for the sport. Why do duck hunters do it? Sit in driving rain for hours awaiting ducks that may never come? Shiver in freezing boats and blinds in the most inaccessible, not to mention inhospitable, environs imaginable? Author-photographer Bill Buckley writes about these magic moments with humor and verve, but it is his brilliant color photographs that steal the show. The hapless hunter who watches helplessly as his partner's Suburban backs out of the driveway-and over the gun case that holds his favorite shotgun. Click! The faithful retriever that elegantly lifts its leg and makes a sop of the hunter's blind bag. Click! And the pained expressions on the faces of duck hunters caught in the act of "enjoying" their favorite sport. Click. Waterfowlers who sometimes question their own sanity can now take heart. "It's all right," Buckley writes, "if you like standing in swamp muck for hours on end. It's okay if your family thinks you're weird. Who cares if your girlfriend diagnoses you as obsessive-compulsive or sadomasochistic? The important thing is, you're not alone."

In this companion volume to the much-acclaimed "I'll be Back in an Hour!", Robin Marshall-Ball ventures beyond the sea wall into Britain's last true wilderness areas of saltmarsh and tidal creeks to describe wildfowling in his own infectious and vivid style. A 'must-read' for lovers of wild and lonely places

Chronicles the culture of duck hunting in the Mississippi River Valley through photographs, following sportsmen along the Mississippi Flyway migratory route as they work to protect waterfowl habitats and preserve the allure of their sport.

" In this luscious alternative universe, sidekicks quote the Lone Ranger and Right inevitably triumphs with panache. What more could adventure-loving readers ask for? " —Publishers Weekly Oakland, 1946. Ex-soldier John Rolfe, newly back from the Pacific, has made a fabulous discovery: A portal to an alternate America where Europeans have never set foot—and the only other humans in sight are a band of very curious Indians. Able to return at will to the modern world, Rolfe summons the only people with whom he is willing to share his discovery: his war buddies. And tells them to bring their families... Los Angeles, twenty-first century. Fish and Game warden Tom Christiansen is involved in the bust of a smuggling operation. What he turns up is something he never anticipated: a photo of authentic Aztec priests decked out in Grateful Dead T-shirts, and a live condor from a gene pool that doesn ' t correspond to any known in captivity or the wild. It is a find that will lead him to a woman named Adrienne Rolfe—and a secret that ' s been hidden for sixty years...

Denis is a Mallard duck who, due to a quirk of nature, is born the same colour as grass, bright green. He suffers a miserable life of insults and misery from other ducks, even his own brothers and sisters A friendly Swan gives him the confidence to change his life, and show him what a wonderful gift he has been given, and how he can help his small friends to escape from the Hawks and Eagles. He lives on a canal, surrounded by many small animals and enjoys an interesting life. He meets his lifetime mate Joan and father's his own baby ducks who are born the normal Mallard Duck colours, much to his relief. The dark skinned cruel Poacher makes the life of all the animals and fish in the area miserable, how can they possibly make him and is evil friends go away? This book was written for boys and girls of 4 to 7 who love animals, but there is absolutely no reason why adults should not enjoy also. This is the very latest version, now much larger than the original book.
